Freshers' Show Update

LE: There's not many men (Room: Many Men Many Men Many Men Men Men) from our auditions this year, but we've still been able to cast the show and they're looking good. The main issue was one of the people we cast was a 15 year old and we didn't know about it till today, so we've removed her from the cast. Read through was good, and we've had our tech meeting.

Small Show Update

GT: CAN CAST SHOW!

Here we see the wild Musical Director in her natural habitat, Building 34. After just 3 days of auditions, she has lost what little sanity was left.

AM: We were worried we wouldn't get enough guys auditioning but we've managed to double up enough roles that it won't be a problem!

GT: Can cast show.

JM: Small show were offered the chance to perform a week later, but since we might cast people within the Mikado we can't ask them to do intensive week after show week.

Spring Show Update

CT: Show audition dates will be the last week of October.

Treasurer Update

AM: We've ordered a new keyboard, stand and a new pedal and a new case.

CH: She missed the delivery, also it's white and I hate white keyboards (I'm Charlie House and white keyboards remind me of WAHH WAHH WAHH).

AM: It was £50 cheaper than the black one.

AM: Charlie needed more Google storage for Showstoppers, so we now have a Showstoppers' PayPal account!

Social Update

DM: We have to pay everything by the 7th November, Charlie has done some swanky art.

(BN declares she finds her own art the swankiest and proceeds to mock CH, who in return raises a solitary finger)

CH swear x1

DM: We had a meeting to discuss prices, £25pp, £32pp w/ wine, £10 tickets for non-dining.

DM: Halloween social with each PA society with a theme, the Edge are having events that weekend, one on Friday and Saturday. So we'll do Saturday 29th October.

Development Update

GT: We have a Hamilton workshop being run by Megan next week, Cabaret still provisionally booked.

BN: Jamie who came in to ask about his musical has asked to do a workshop so we'll be having that on the 9th November and 7th December.
