Society Update

FdA: Obviously the 24 Show takes priority, and it is an inconvenience, but it's the only week available for myself to pitch for Show in a Week for. And it'll be made aware before about the possibility of it being a tiring week.

BN: As long as people are given the choice and an availability to do both it should be fine.

Pitch Discussion

In regards to holding Edinburgh pitches before or after Christmas.

EF: It'll help, and give them enough time to prepare auditions just by having pitches before.

DM: However it's quite a short time within this gap, people may want to pitch...

LE: ... and it'll result in better pitches.

DM: ...if we wait till after.

CT: It'll feel less like we're forcing a show on people.

GT: Not fair to rush people through, more likely to pitch after.

Round Two of Summer Spoken Pitches will be held on Tuesday 10th January at 6pm, with Written Pitches due on the 5th January. This will also be a chance for independent pieces to be pitched to Showstoppers.

GT: I think it should be a case of the President vote being the deciding factor.

LE: What if the President isn't there, or the President votes abstain?

JM: Abstaining means you are effectively not in the room.

DM: It'll go down the authority scale. President, VP, Treasurer, Secretary.

In regards to future pitches (If there is a tie as to whether select a show, or in the case of multiple pitches, a tie between which show should be selected), the President's vote will be weighted as 2 votes (again only in the case of a tie).

Lydia will write this over the Christmas period and confirm it with committee over the information contained within this document.

Fresher's Show Update

CH: Our ticket sales are currently 59% towards what we budgeted. Content is all done.

Small Show Update

AM: We got lots done, we did a law enforcement workshop, and we're having a costume call. I think people are enjoying it.

JM: Andy Banks looks masculine. It's amazing.

Spring Show Update

CT: Anabelle did a dance on Sunday.

BN: It's hard but it's so cool. (EMF: It's not that hard)

Alright Elliot.

EM: When you're doing it, it doesn't feel like 7 and a half inches (minutes) long.

AM: I have a question about Curtains. Do you have an AP and AD?

CT: No, we've left an AP for the producers to decide, and we don't feel like we need one at this time. It hasn't really become a thing.

Treasurer Update

No Updates.

Social Update

EF: Our photographer dropped out, but we've got a photographer.

DM: She looks great!

*Well I'm sure she is but I don't believe her appearance has anything to do with her ability to take pictures!
Chortle Chortle Chortle.*

EF: Can people please come to the Broadway Baby event! I messed up the event but I think I covered it.

DM: Edge after?

Development Update

BN: We did a workshop. Gem made a Christmas medley.

GT: It's embarrassing.

BN: We have two options for committee numbers; Two by Two or Legally Blonde.

Gem and Bella will do a poll.
